MORNING HAS BROKEN

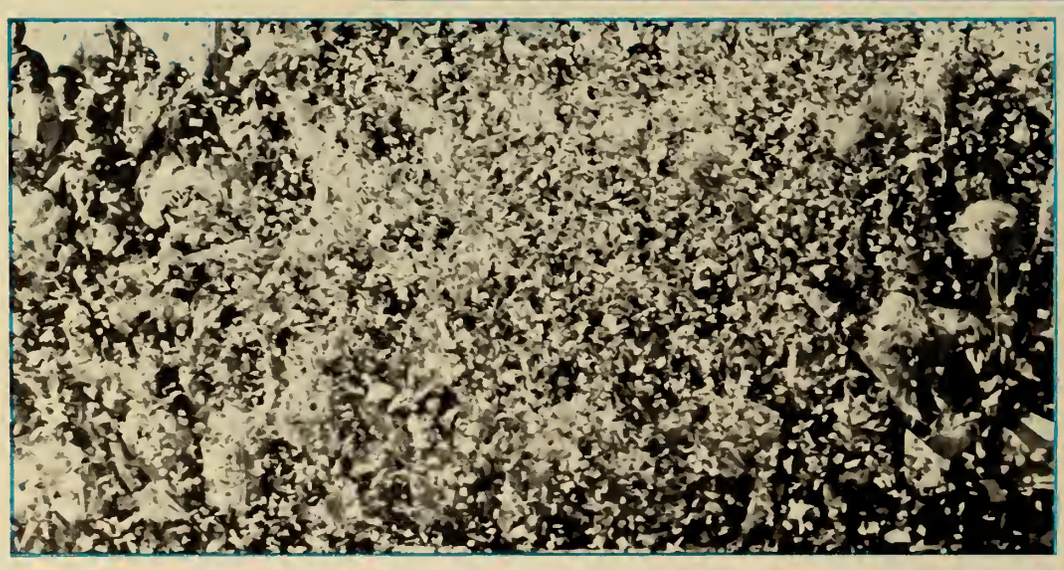

The alarm clock rings and sounds of a new morning begin. Get up, get dressed, get to school. Dragging yourself to the bus and yawning through first bell, you wonder if the surf is up. You pull yourself to second bell while thinking about how much longer you could have been in bed. Passing smiles and cheerful greetings make the morning brighter. Third bell passes quickly and you realize that soon you will be on your way home.

Morning has broken once more on a new day. And while complaints are always heard about having to get up so early, morning has a specialness all its own. A time to reflect upon yesterday's worries and collect today's thoughts, morning is the hope of something new.

whit,
I have really enjoyed knowing you this year. I enjoyed very much going out with you. don't forget the time you missed your booth basket! Ha Ha! that was funny!!!
I hope you very nice summer. I hope to see you we have to go out Friday.
Love ya! whit!

DAY BY DAY

In a school as large as First Colonial, the students are often torn between many dissenting opinions. Day by day we watch our fellow classmates as they grow and adjust their lives to the ever-increasing expectations of their friends. Yet, we find that faces have become friends, and teachers are actually concerned and willing to help us. Together we experience the joys and sorrows that are all part of the typical school day, and look optimistically to each new day and the challenges that we must meet.

What,

I hope if you ever run out of gas again, it's somewhere near my house so you can stop and say "hi." It's been nice knowing you and being in art together. Maybe if you taking art II next year we'll be in the same class. Don't go picking up the girls this summer. Stay at home chase and let them flock to you. And don't let any teachers cars get into your way.

Love,
Allyson

AFTERNOON DELIGHT

Diversity is the key word in after school activities. For some, two o'clock means time for home and time to catch up on some much needed sleep. Others trudge onward to their jobs or club meetings, while even more find themselves involved athletically. While the activities are as different as the people, our dependence on each other remains constant. We find that a club is only as useful as its members, a team is only as good as its players. Involving ourselves in personal interests, learning to work together and play together, and more importantly, learning the proper time for each. We grow together, become unified, and look forward to sharing our day with friends.

AT DAY'S END

After a long day at school and a hard day's work, the thought of nighttime is met with jubilation. Football, basketball games, and plays challenge homework for the number one position. Students come to life, temporarily succumbing to the thought that tomorrow is yet another school day. Living easy, resting, or cheering the teams to victory, that special nighttime feeling is unanimous.

We enjoyed the tunes of the talented marching band, and the Patriot football team emerged victorious once more. Our first play, A Midsummer Night's Dream, was a huge success.

The night is tired and the time is late. The cycle is completed. Tides turn and sunrise begins the new day.

F.C. CASTS ITS VOTE

The Social Studies department of First Colonial had a special event during the Homecoming festivities.

The Seniors were invited to hear the incumbent William Whitehurst and candidate issues. Seniors took part in the assembly by organizing a panel to question the candidates.

This activity was well enjoyed by the senior class.

WHO'S AT F.C.

Where's Groucho?

There are times, if all the conditions are right, when strange things take place. Spirit Week at First Colonial was one of these times.

People were suddenly changed into "Unidentified Walking Objects." The Sophomores became cartoon characters, and the Juniors were transformed into little rascals. The Seniors were mysteriously converted into the Marx Brothers. Even F.C.'s teachers were affected by this change — they became famous celebrities. Although F.C. was in a state of chaos for a week, things soon returned to normal, but . . . wait until next year!

First Colonial funsters.

Every parade has a star.

Homecoming Day was the climax of a fun-filled and active Spirit Week. The classes were busy stuffing their floats and making many last minute adjustments. The highlight of the day was the big Pep Rally. There were many contests including an ice cream contest, three-legged race, wiggle contest and, most important, the spirit count. Competition was tough. The bleachers rocked and rolled with noise.

A pleasant surprise of the day was the announcement of a parade at the beach. Bob Denver was to be the Grand Marshall. This was the first of its kind at the beach.

"Happiness"

Isn't she lovely?

Homecoming night held something special for everyone. A very happy Lynn Davison was crowned the 1976 Homecoming Queen. Every class was a winner, too, A trophy was awarded to the Marx Brothers of the Senior class for winning the Spirit Day competition, to the Junior class for "Showboat", the winning float, and to the Sophomore class for their noisy participation at the pep rally.

True Love

This year First Colonial's Thespian club presented the play A Midsummer Night's Dream. After many weeks of practice, the play was performed December 3rd and 4th. It was well recieved by it's audience. The cast did an excellent job performing this Shakespearian Classic.

Puck, Oberon, and Titana appear on F.C. stage.

Once upon a time in the land of F.C.
Rumor was started
of a riot to be
Not a riot exactly,
but more like a game
A big confrontation
Powderpuff by name.
The Seniors were ready
they were gonna be mean
The Juniors were the toughest chicks
I've ever seen!
There was gonna be blood
there was gonna be gore
The cheerleaders shouted and cried out for more.
The last ball was hiked and the last cheer cheered
The fans were all gone and the locker rooms cleared
But one thing remained after the rest
The fact that the Seniors still are the Best!

The First Colonial Madrigals began their musical season November 11 by singing at Orion's Roof for the Daughter's of the American Revolution. They followed that with a concert at the Myers House and one at the Thoroughgood House. The Madrigals then held their traditional Christmas Concert for the entire student body. They sang all the favorite Christmas carols.

CLASS '77

September brought the dawn of Senior Year. Full of spirit and anticipation, we grasp for the last experiences of high school. Soon to be memories are the victorious Powderpuff game and pep rallies, t-shirt and bumper sticker sales, committee projects, and exciting Spirit Week festivities. The fun as well as the disasters we encounter will some day be warm memories, humorous and delightful.

Graduation draws near. We are confronted with more serious decisions, we worry over our choices, yet we are relieved to have met the responsibility.

A new world of opportunities awaits us. Teachers and friends must be left behind. We do not grieve, for we know that as our future may call for separation, the joy and unity we once experienced will remain dear in our hearts. Though the way ahead may often appear cloudy, the Class of '77 Sees the Light.

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS: Vice President Chris Ettel, Secretary Karen Sanchez, Treasurer Sue Bean, President Shawn Cassidy.

UNDERCLASS

The Juniors started their second year at First Colonial with a small treasury, a number of well-defined goals, and much enthusiasm. Weeks of hard work culminated in a victory for the Junior Homecoming float. The Juniors received their long-awaited class rings in a ring assembly.

Money for the Junior Prom was raised through a large-scale paper drive, dances after the Powderpuff and last football games, and a pen sale. Each member of the class contributed to a successful year.

The Sophomores, the largest class at FC, started the year with enthusiasm and spirit that took the whole school by surprise. This spirit was shown by their capturing first place at the Homecoming pep rally. The Sophomores showed their creativity by dressing up as cartoon characters on Spirit Day. In December the Sophomores held a flea market and donated unsold items to charity. The money earned from all projects was used for the Sophomore Sweetheart Dance. With their ingenuity, the class of '79 will be a major influence in the years to come.

FACULTY

LEADERSHIP

In his second year as principal of First Colonial, Mr. Joseph Owens has striven to make our school one of the finest in the state. His dedication and devotion have provoked many changes for the betterment of the school. New ideas have helped to broaden students' horizons as well as increase student-teacher relations. He has worked hard to achieve a well rounded faculty to guide students to meet future goals.

Mr. Charles Atkinson, Mr. Ray Smith, and Mr. Robert Hicks have assisted the Principal in all aspects. Together they have shown that hard work and integrity are necessary to develop a fine school. The progress that these men have made is outstanding, and it has enriched all of those at First Colonial. First Colonial is fortunate to have leaders that take such a genuine interest in the students.

Faced with the full time job of tending to student needs, First Colonial's Guidance Staff is busy preparing transcripts for college bound students. Counselors also spent several sleepy Saturday mornings administering the SAT's and Achievement Tests to students.

Social Studies

A Presidential election year is the answer to every social studies teacher's dream. This year, besides selecting a President, voters were to choose a Congressman and Senator, and vote on several referendums to our state constitution.

First Colonial and the Social Studies Department organized a mock election for the benefit of upcoming young voters. Seniors were given the opportunity to use voting machines while underclassmen voted by written ballot. Assemblies held before the election gave students the chance to meet Congressman William Whitehurst and his opponent for Congress, Delegate Robert Washington. The incumbent and his opponent relayed their views to students, allowing them to decide which candidate they preferred. First Colonial voted overwhelmingly for the Republican slate of candidates, including one independent.

Many of our foreign language teachers serve as sponsors for the foreign language clubs. These clubs, along with studying culture, place emphasis on developing a better understanding of other countries. Several of the clubs have set their goal at taking a trip to the various countries where their language is spoken. The teachers sponsoring these clubs deserve credit for the inspiration they have given to pupils. Students have learned that being involved with a language club is far more than joining another social activity.

The Music Department has experienced many changes this year. Mr. William Miller has returned to First Colonial after a short absence. He served as choral director, and director of the Madrigals.

When the Patriot band went marching on to the first football game, new uniforms accented the creative formation of the marching band. The new music and routines made the 1976-77 marching band a credit to First Colonial.

Stressing the importance of a sound mind and body, physical education teachers take their work seriously. Several of the physical education teachers also serve as coaches for athletic teams. The department gained a new addition, former First Colonial student, Lynn Hadley. Miss Hadley serves as the women's gymnastics coach and women's track and field coach.

Change has also reached the Physical Education Department. Students taking 11th and 12th grade physical education classes can now choose from a series of individual or group sports. This new elective program proves to be very popular.

Science

With new teaching methods, the Science Department set out to help students achieve their goals. Business

Teaching the fundamentals of business can be a difficult job. Our school is lucky enough to have seven business instructors assisting those students wishing to pursue a business career. Several business teachers also assist students in finding office jobs so that they might experience a business oriented career first-hand.

The department is also proud that one of their members, Miss Ann Peele, will have had a practice set published this year by a major publishing company.

Involvement is the key word in Distributive Education. Teachers not only spend time with their pupils in school, but they also assist them in finding out-of-school jobs. Requirements established by the program assure that each student learns the buying and selling aspects of business by experience.

Closely related to the Distributive Education program is the Industrial Cooperative Training program, which specializes in training students for vocational or trade oriented careers.

READING, A NOVEL EXPERIENCE

Because our society today is based on a system of major written communication, maintaining an efficient reading level can help a student in all aspects of life.

Under the guidance of our two reading teachers, Mrs. Regis Crowley and Miss Linda Hecht, students can learn to overcome reading difficulties and strive to fulfill future needs.

Mathematics

If John has one dollar, five-dollar, and ten-dollar bills, totaling $171, and he has the same number of five-dollar bills as one-dollar and ten-dollar bills put together, how many miles is it from here to Bremerton, Washington? When students think of math, algebra, geometry, analysis, and word problems are thought of synonymously. Confusion is next in line. Fortunately, First Colonial has 10 excellent math teachers to guide confused students to a better understanding of the world of math. Students know that they can depend on a teacher for extra help. Many of our math teachers, anxious to promote a better understanding of the math field can be found before school each morning and after school each afternoon.

Language Arts

This year the English Department stressed the importance of a basic knowledge of the English language. While some teachers emphasized correct grammatical usage, others guided students to developing and maturing a unique writing style. Students were taught to study independently, yet secure knowledge from other advanced students as well. The English Department offered a new course this year for students interested in newspaper writing and production. Under the direction of Miss Debra Floyd, students were allowed to study Journalism. Students have learned that once the basics of language have been acquired many other doors will open.

Library

The Library Staff experienced a welcome change this year; the addition of two new staff members, Ms. Betty Cox and Ms. Joann Trafford, a new library set-up, and many new books. Both Ms. Cox and Ms. Trafford served as library clerks assisting the librarians in keeping the library orderly and efficient. A new coat of paint, and new books gave the library a fresh look.

Because of the change in lunchroom procedures, students received the opportunity to use the library during their lunch period. Increasing numbers of students also benefitted from the additional library hours on Wednesday nights. Many found the quiet atmosphere of the library an excellent place to research, study, or just relax and enjoy a magazine.

Commander Lackore and Chief McCarron have been working hard this year to make the First Colonial NJROTC unit something to be proud of. Together they present an introduction to the Navy. By providing background information on drilling, naval history, and naval basics such as communication, they hope to stimulate students toward a naval career. The program also offers in depth courses on oceanography, astronomy, and navigation.

The school has definitely benefitted from this worthwhile program.

Industrial Arts

Once looked upon for only male enrollment, the Industrial Arts Department has become a favorite of First Colonial students. Increasing numbers of students have enrolled each year for the variety of industrial arts courses offered. Those students looking for a special way to express themselves can take courses ranging in diversity from electronics, to woods, to crafts. The ever-popular crafts course serves as a means for students to express their imagination and creativity.

Courses such as Mechanical Drawing, under the direction of Mr. William Miller, have seen a definite increase of female involvement.

Nurse

Our school nurse, Mrs. Jennifer Girard has been kept exceptionally busy this year. One nurse for such a large population of students proves to be a difficult job. From cut fingers, to sprained ankles, to students without money who need to make an important telephone call, Mrs. Girard has been patient and understanding. A sick student knows that he can receive a comforting word and kind smile.

Stressing the importance of good health care and cleanliness to all students, Mrs. Girard has been a welcome addition to First Colonial.

PATRIOTS ARE RED - HOT

Cox rival tackled by the Mighty Patriots.

When the Varsity Football team started the season, most of the players were inexperienced new-comers. With this handicap, the Patriots opened by tying Kellam, one of the strongest teams in the district, 0-0. Patriot skill increased and the next game brought a 34-2 victory over Granby. Although the fighting Patriots lost the next three games, the winning streak returned with the defeat of 1st place Cox, Menchville and Maury.

The defensive team was very strong and led in pass defense. Timmy Sayers, one of the defensive players, made All-District Safety.

On the offensive team, punter Jeff Kirk led the district along with Ron Zollicoffer, who made wide receiver in All-District, All-Regional and All-State. Brad Beaman, quarterback, led the district in passing.

Unfortunately, Scott Perkins, the first string fullback, was injured in the Princess Anne game and did not return for the rest of the season. Greg Ettel suffered neck injuries and the team was destined to complete the season minus another good player.

Congratulations go to Coach Frank Webster for his tenth consecutive winning season, finishing with a 5-4-1 record, and to Ron Zollicoffer, who received a scholarship to Virginia Tech. Special thanks go to team captains Ron Zollicoffer and David Cavitt, and Coaches Barto, Britton, Douglas and Phelps for their assistance in promoting a winning season.

This year's field hockey team, headed by Coach Sharon Burkhart, had a difficult season. Many strong senior players were lost and the new team had little experience. The girls lost all of their games except one, which they tied. However, thanks to excellent coaching and a great amount of teamwork, the girls gained much needed experience that will make them a successful team next season. Outstanding players such as Sandra Berry, Sam Brigman, Martha Owen and Karen Norville led the team throughout the hockey season. Another outstanding player, Hunter Bell, was unable to play most of the season because of an injury. The efforts of the Patriots will be apparent next season as the team will, undoubtedly, be much stronger.

The 1976-1977 men's basketball team, along with center Guy Morgan, led the District. In the opening game against Cox, the team scored a record 100 points. The Patriots went on to defeat Princess Anne, Kellam, and every one of the other teams in the district. The highlight of the season was the Patriot victory over Maury at the Norfolk Arena. The Patriots were ranked first in the District, being undefeated among the beach teams. Strong players on the Patriot basketball team were Guy Morgan, Jon McGruder, Keith Ford, Ron Zollicoffer, and David Moore. The talent of these players, combined with the training of Coach Alton Hill, gave the team a very successful season. Promising players for the 1977 season include Tom Gilliland, Skip Harwood, Rusty Onhaizer, and Brad Beaman. Phil Hubbard and Mark Dennis, upcoming juniors, are also expected to be great assets to the team. Coach Hill expects to have another winning season next year.

With seemingly endless hours of practice, the varsity wrestling team worked hard on each move until it became a reaction, not a thought. Not only were the practices long and nearly impossible, the matmen found it just as hard to make their weight as to be energetic during practice.

This year brought about a change for the wrestler's; they were under the supervision of Coach Miller. This was his first year of coaching and he had a fantastic team with more skill, endurance and strength than the entire Beach district had combined in all. Such outstanding matmen were juniors Steve Romeo, Chris Taylor, Tony Wareing and Calvin Wiggins.

The 1976-1977 girl's gymnastics team was the youngest ever to compete at First Colonial. The team was made up of eight sophomores, four juniors, and no seniors. Aside from having the youngest team, Miss Hadley was the youngest coach ever to train a competitive Patriot team. Besides having an almost completely new team and coach, the gymnastics team also received new equipment and uniforms. This change must have inspired the girls on to their fantastic season. In the beginning, the team was led by Robin Coulsting, Shelley Grabinsky, and Theresa and Leslie Karnitschnig. Robin Coulsting suffered a sprained ankle mid-way through the season, and Shelley Grabinsky was out for several meets because of illness. The team rallied around this loss, however, and went on to give the school one of the best gymnastics records ever.

THE SPIRIT-MAKERS

Brenda Jacques displays cheerleader enthusiasm.

When considering the most loyal and spirited members of the school, the First Colonial Cheerleaders should be given the top rank. These girls were present at every Pep Rally, football and basketball game, aside from some hockey, wrestling and indoor track meets. The squad worked to raise money by sponsoring dances and selling spirit ribbons and buttons throughout the football season.

Some changes to the cheering squad were brought about this year. The first involved merging the Varsity and Junior Varsity squads so that the sophomore, junior, and senior girls were united. Secondly, this is the first year in the school's history that there have been three senior captains. Nancy Lottman, Barbara Hackett, and Lynn Davison helped to make the 1976-1977 Cheerleading squad a good one. All of the girls who participated on the squad should be commended on their enthusiastic leadership.

PRIDE IN ACCOMPLISHMENTS

The indoor track team, coached by Mr. Carlton Hill, started out with what seemed to be a winning season. The team, which was composed of speed and determination, opened its season with a victory over Kellam. Outstanding performances were given by Billy Ballard (one- and two-mile relay), Scott Casone (1000 yard dash), and Leon Lawson (high jump, long jump, and triple jump). The team attended the invitational indoor track meet at William and Mary College. Jon Dobbs, the only First Colonial competitor to place, took a third in pole vaulting. Outstanding prospects are seen in Tommy Lee and James Lawson for next year's season. With many outstanding team members returning next year, a very strong indoor track team is predicted for the '77-'78 season.

Up and over.

Patriot strains to defeat opponent.

Under the supervision of Coach Alton Hill, the cross country team met every day and participated in races every week. Notable team contributions were made by Shawn Cassidy, Al Cardwell and Terry Beardslee. The team indicated their determination by hard work and devotion to their sport. With the talent and potential seen in the 1977 team, a winning season is expected in 1978.

Leon Lawson takes a giant leap for First Colonial.

VICTORY: KEY TO SUCCESS

Jimi Gatlin attempts to score.

The girls basketball team opened the season strong in both offense and defense. The Patriots remained undefeated until they lost to Cox in a game that went into overtime. Sandy Berry led the team through another winning season, scoring an average of 18 points a game. Outstanding performances were also given throughout the season by Cynthia Bennett, Jimi Gatlin, Beth Lodge, Lolo Leaks, and Missy Snuffin. Although Antigone Savvides was unable to play most of the season because of an injured ankle, she was still a great asset to the team' performance. The team was fortunate to have Janet Rowlands, an Old Dominion basketball star, as their coach. The winning record of the Patriots proves them to be sure winners of the District and Regional Championships. Although Coach Rowlands will be losing two of her starting players, we can be sure that next year's team will prove just as successfu.

ACTIVITIES

There is only one word to describe this year's SCA: remarkable. Before school even started, the SCA arranged a very successful orientation for the new sophomores.

Beginning the year in debt, the SCA chose a theme intended to get the entire school involved — "Pursue Your Dreams." It was to be the beginning of a great year.

The first money-making project was the sale of SCA cards, and then came Homecoming, a great success, and for the first time in years, F.C. had a Beach Homecoming Parade.

Always promoting school spirit, blue and gold pom-poms were sold. The school-wide drive for the United Fund far surpassed the goal.

THE SCA OFFICERS: Leslie Marshall, John Rogers, Karen Myers, Ginny Buchanan.

Student Cooperative Association

Jeff Ettel and John Caton lead the Homecoming Parade.

John Rogers helps out in the parade.

Mark Davison and Ken Storbeck kept the marquee up-to-date.

Movies were shown in the auditorium, and the SCA handled the concessions at every dance. School spirit cards with the alma mater and fight song were distributed free. There were the usual Thanksgiving food drive and Christmas door decorating. At Valentine's Day there was a post office, and other planned activities included a roller skating party for the whole school, a student-teacher volleyball game, and a Field Day in the spring. At the end of the year, the SCA awarded a scholarship to a deserving senior.

Organization was the key to the successfulness of the SCA. Always thinking ahead, explicit details were kept of every event for the new SCA next year.

Pursue Your Dreams

The SCA officers and Chris Caton attempt to look busy.

The officers enjoy themselves in the parade.

Following along with the new spirit of the SCA, a brand new set of Standing Committee Chairmen set out to achieve the basic goals of the SCA. Serving as a link between the students and the SCA officers, these Committee Chairmen sought to involve all students by getting them to join committees. It was through the hard work of these committees that accomplishments such as numerous student exchanges, successful and well-planned pep rallies, new lunch schedules, better student-teacher relations, and keeping the entire beach informed about all F.C. happenings were realized.

Standing Committees — I.C.C.

Headed by SCA Vice-President Karen Myers, the I.C.C. is composed of all club and class vice-presidents. Because this was a very active year for clubs as well as classes, the I.C.C. was also quite busy. The regular meetings of the I.C.C. insured that activities would not conflict. All activities had to be approved through the I.C.C. before going on to Mr. Owens for final approval.

First Colonial's Girls State representatives took part in the annual program sponsored by the American Legion Auxilary, June 13-20 at Longwood College. Approximately 600 girls were divided into 12 cities in which they learned about the procedures of state government and aspects of leadership. Each girl had the new opportunity for self-expression, the formation of friendships, the acquisition of knowledge and for growth as an individual. Besides attending lectures and hosting distinguished guests, the girls also participated in city and state elections, party conventions, and political rallies.

F.C. can be proud of its girls. Mary Huerta was selected city manager, Lynn Davison was a Party Delegate, Beverly Werners and Annette Terveer were chosen Senators, and Laurie McGuire was City Clerk and an alternate to Girls Nation.

GIRLS STATE: Lynn Davison, Mary Huerta, Laurie McGuire, Beverly Wermers, Annette Terveer.

Girls State — Boys State

Lynchburg College was the site of this year's Boys State, held June 13-20. The students attending Boys State from F.C. learned about the way in which our government operates. They also learned about the legislature and how bills are made into law. It was said that to get anything out of it and have a good time, you have to get involved. Involved exactly describes the First Colonial boys.

Chris King, David Cavitt and Chris Ettel served their cities in important offices. John Rogers served as District Attorney, and Joe Taylor was selected Senator and served as clerk of the Senate.

"Working in a workshop, going up, up, up. Working in a workshop, whew never want to stop! W-O-R-K-S-H-O-P!" Leadership — Governor's School

First Colonial was proudly represented at the Governor's School for the Gifted last summer by Pam Pyle and Lowe Bibby. Unfortunately, we lost Lowe to Hawaii, but both seniors benefitted greatly from the experience.

Both students attended the session held at Mary Washington College in Fredricksburg. Exceptional students from all over the State participated in the month-long school where no grades were taken and students lived in the college dorms. "Learning for learning's sake" was the school's objective, and the planned activities for every night were totally diversified.

One of the most memorable things about Governor's School was the many friends made. Reunions held periodically enable the students to keep in contact with each other.

The Debate Team, striving to uphold the winning F.C. tradition, dealt with the topic of America's penal system this year. Under the leadership of coach Ms. Sharpe, both varsity and novice debaters attended virtually all of the debates sponsored by the Tidewater Debate League. Requiring many hours of research and hard work, the Debate Team reached for team verbal victories.

The National Honor Society this year continued to uphold the fine tradition set in previous years. As usual, tutoring services were offered by the members, though students didn't often take advantage of the Honor Society's main activity. Members served as hosts for various functions such as College Night and Career Carnival. The Honor Society's big money-raising projects this year were the Valentine's Day carnation sale and a stationery sale.

Following along with the National Honor Society's standards of scholarship, service, leadership, and character, 15 Seniors and 26 Juniors were tapped in March 24 and 25.

Carnations were cheerfully and diligently delivered February 14th.

With only three staff members attending the annual Hunter Publishing Company Seminar in Winston-Salem, the intrepid annual staff plunged into the unknown.

In addition to the new editor, the staff also worked with two new sponsors who proved their capabilities with their much needed help.

Only through much struggling on behalf of the staff and the invaluable help of our Hunter Representative, Mr. John Perry, did the 1977 Heritage become a reality.

Before the school year even began, the Heritage staff held meetings and went about the not-always-enjoyed task of selling ads. School began and the main goal was getting the books sold. The students seemed rather apathetic when it came to buying, but nonetheless the 1977 Heritage will go down in First Colonial history as one of the best yearbooks ever.

The Naval Junior Reserve Officers Training Corps is designed to instill leadership ability, national pride, and an understanding of the U.S. Navy in high school age men and women. These goals are achieved through a militarily structured chain of command within the corps. The company commander, Cadet LCDR Neal Williams, oversees the staff of cadet officers who actually run the corps. Extra-curricular activities such as Competition Drill Teams, Colour Guards, and Rifle Teams are also under the command of cadet officers. All of these activities plus many field trips and cruises aboard Navy ships were coordinated by Cdr. R.C. Lackore and Chief J.J. McCarron, who have devoted much time and effort toward the NJROTC unit and have contributed immensely to its success.

The club elected its officers in September during a luncheon meeting at a local restaurant during fifth bell and attended the District Leadership Rally at Nags' Head in November. Fund-raising activities provided money for a trip in the spring. These activities included car washes, bake sales, the annual Christmas Bazaar, and selling hot chocolate before school. The Patriot Marching Band and Colour Guard.

Band

Proudly marching to the tunes of "Feelings" or "Greensleeves," the Patriot Marching Band and Colour Guard performed magnificently during football game half-times. Aided by the enthusiasm of Majorette Sherry Knight and led by Field Commander Rob Simon and Band Commander Carma Lewallen, the band also performed at the Neptune Festival Field Competition, the Indian River Band Competition, and the Apple Blossom Festival in Winchester.

This year, 17 Patriots were members of the All-Regional Band: Rob Simon, Jeannette Weller, Mike George, Sidney Hymen, Fin Crowley, Sharon Waltman, Angelo Deloro, Pat Harris, Melinda Harris, Maria Mullen, and Doug Deets. In addition to qualifying for All-Regional membership, the following were eligible for All-State Auditions in Lynchburg: Matthew Turk, Marshall Hall, Alfredo Delgato, Leon Smith, Carma Lewallen, and Cathy Clarke.

The boys in the band prove practice makes perfect.

In studying Law or Physics, or any other Art or Science, by which you propose to get your Livelihood, though you find it at first hard, difficult and unpleasing, use Diligence, Patience and Perseverance; the Irksomeness of your Task will thus diminish daily, and your Labour shall finally be crowned with Success.

— Benjamin Franklin

As the year comes to an end, we — as one being — have discovered new depths into ourselves and each other. We have made new friends, new enemies and have achieved many goals.

Many talents emerged this year. The most prominent and documented was our basketball team. Their superb coordination and team work took them to Charlottesville for the State Championship.

However, many rare and commendable assets lurked behind the scenes. Without these fellow students, the school year would have been dull in comparison. Teresa Karnitschnig and Chris Taylor gained state recognition in gymnastics and wrestling respectively. Anna-Marie Smith and Jeff Powell starred in major roles in various theatres. Due to the hard work and dedication of just a few students, Junior Jollies, Senior Sillies and the Proms became memorable events.

Yet, even as the tides change, we must uncover new sands and move on to bigger and better things.
